

Dear IC3 family,

The dynamics of Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) are rapidly evolving. At this time, the health and safety of the IC3 family and of the general public are our highest priorities.

We are carefully monitoring the situation as it relates to IC3 activities. Given that the scenario is changing every day, it is difficult to predict how our scheduled activities will be impacted over the next few weeks. However, we can assure you that your well-being will remain the crucial factor in every decision we make about scheduled IC3 programs.

We will promptly update all relevant audiences of the IC3 Regional Forums, the IC3 Conference and the IC3 Institute on any changes as they happen. Please keep an eye out for further communication from us to remain updated on the situation.

This is a challenging time, but it brings with it an opportunity for growth and reflection. Let us respond to this situation by coming together in solidarity, with empathy and compassion for the global human community.

We would like to express our sincere gratitude to the IC3 Leadership Committees and IC3 Host Schools, whose guidance and leadership are the backbone of the IC3 Movement, and to every educator working relentlessly toward the mission of counseling in every school.

If you would like to read more about preventing the spread of COVID-19, we recommend you visit the official websites of nationally- and/or internationally-recognized public health organizations, such as the World Health Organization, the Centers for Disease Control, or that of your country of residence's ministry of health.

With gratitude,
The IC3 Team
